

---

TERMS OF USE FOR THE AMERICAN FUNDS VOICE OF THE ADVISOR PANEL

---

This invitation to join the Voice of the Advisor Panel is personal and non-transferable.

Once advisors have joined the panel, proprietary information may be provided which is not known to the public. It may not be used with colleagues, clients, or prospects.

Links or uploads from Voice of the Advisor Panel members and/or American Funds may not be used with colleagues, clients, or prospects.

All posts are monitored and retained by American Funds.

All posts will be in English only.

American Funds has the right to use ideas and information from Advisor Panel members.

Upon joining the panel, advisors may be required to provide information about themselves. Advisor information is subject to our Privacy Policy - the same as investor information. For example, the following is applicable:

Information we collect

We do not sell information to third parties. However, we may collect and retain certain non-public information about advisors. Information collected from advisors online (for example, HTTP headers, IP address, pixel tags and/or cookies) will be used to help improve advisors' Panel experience.

Information we may disclose

We occasionally disclose nonpublic information about advisors to affiliates and non-affiliates as permitted by law. Examples would be disclosing information to research companies to access and improve our financial services or disclosing information with legal proceedings such as responding to a subpoena.

We restrict to authorized persons access to advisors' nonpublic information. We maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards that comply with federal standards to guard advisors nonpublic information.

These measures reflect our commitment to maintaining the privacy of advisor information. We appreciate the confidence advisors show in entrusting American Funds with nonpublic information.

Please refer to the Privacy Policy for more detailed information regarding our handling of advisors' personal information.